

Third Party's Interim Campaign Return (EC 20251) – Instructions

When to use this form

A registered third party must submit interim returns during the pre-election period (for a fixed-date general election), and during the election period of a general election, if certain conditions are met. Interim returns are not required for by-elections.

Third party registration and interim reporting requirements

A third party is required to register immediately if it incurs expenses totalling $500 or more for regulated activities* that take place during the pre-election period, or $500 or more for regulated activities* that take place during the election period.

Return #1 due 5 days after the third party becomes required to register, if the third party:

- received contributions totalling $10,000 or more for regulated activities* between the day after the previous general election and the day on which the third party became required to register, or
- incurred expenses totalling $10,000 or more during the above period for regulated activities* that take place during the pre-election period.

Return #2 due on September 15, if the third party:

- received contributions totalling $10,000 or more for regulated activities* between the day after the previous general election and September 14 (or the last day of the pre-election period, whichever is earlier), or
- incurred expenses totalling $10,000 or more during the above period for regulated activities* that take place during the pre-election period.

Return #3 due 21 days before election day, if the third party:

- received contributions totalling $10,000 or more for regulated activities* between the day after the previous general election and the 23rd day before election day, or
- incurred expenses totalling $10,000 or more during the above period for regulated activities* that take place during the pre-election or election period.

Return #4 due 7 days before election day, if the third party:

- received contributions totalling $10,000 or more for regulated activities* between the day after the previous general election and the 9th day before election day, or
- incurred expenses totalling $10,000 or more during the above period for regulated activities* that take place during the pre-election or election period.

*Regulated activities are partisan activities, election surveys, partisan advertising and election advertising that take place during the pre-election period or the election period.

Notes:

- Once a third party starts filing interim returns, it must file all remaining interim returns.
- Interim returns include only transactions not previously reported.

Tips for completing this form

Part 1

Declaration:

The declaration must be signed by the financial agent and the person who signed the third party's application for registration (if different from the financial agent).

Parts 2a and 2b

List all monetary and non-monetary contributions received by the third party during the reporting period for the purpose of regulated activities.

Enter the full name and address of every contributor who contributed or loaned a total of more than $200 during that period. If the contributor is a numbered company, also include the name of the company's chief executive officer or president.

Monetary and non-monetary contributions from contributors who contributed or loaned a total of $200 or less during that period are only reported by contributor type. Record this on the last page used for that Part.

If the third party is unable to identify which contributions were received for regulated activities, it must list the name and address of every contributor who contributed or loaned a total of more than $200 for any purpose during the reporting period.

Part 2c

Record the loans received during the reporting period to finance regulated activities.

For each operating loan obtained from a lender who contributed or loaned a total of more than $200 during that period, enter the lender's full name and address. If the lender is a numbered company, also include the name of the company's chief executive officer or president.

Loans from lenders who contributed or loaned a total of $200 or less during that period are only reported by lender type.

If the third party is unable to identify which loans were received to finance regulated activities, it must list the name and address of every lender who loaned or contributed a total of more than $200 for any purpose during the reporting period.

Part 2d

To determine the total campaign inflows, carry forward the total amounts and numbers of contributors and lenders from each Part to the corresponding boxes. Additionally, if the third party used any of its own resources for regulated activities, enter the amount used.

Part 3a

This is only to be used for expenses incurred during the pre-election period.

List the expenses incurred during the reporting period for regulated activities that take place during the pre-election period. These include non-monetary contributions and unpaid expenses. If the expense was incurred to promote or oppose one or more potential candidates or nomination contestants in a given electoral district, enter the ED code of that electoral district. When recording the place a partisan activity occurred or partisan advertising was transmitted, enter a geographic location, an electoral district or "National" if it took place across the country. For a list of ED codes, refer to Annex I.

Expense types, categories and subcategories:

For a complete list of applicable expense types, expense categories and expense subcategories, refer to Annex II.

Part 3b

This is only to be used for expenses incurred during the election period.

List the expenses incurred during the reporting period for regulated activities that take place during the election period. These include non-monetary contributions and unpaid expenses. If the expense was incurred to promote or oppose one or more candidates in a given electoral district, enter the ED code of that electoral district. When recording the place a partisan activity occurred or election advertising was transmitted, enter a geographic location, an electoral district or "National" if it took place across the country. For a list of ED codes, refer to Annex I.

Expense types, categories and subcategories:

For a complete list of applicable expense types, expense categories and expense subcategories, refer to Annex II.

Part 3c

To determine the total campaign outflows, carry forward the total amounts from parts 3a and 3b.

Supporting documents

Third parties must keep the documents evidencing their financial transactions. These include invoices, bank statements, deposit slips and cancelled cheques. At the request of Elections Canada, third parties are required to provide supporting documentation.
